Education

An achievement gap exists in Eagle County due to the disparity between incomes in the Valley and the large number of students who do not have English as their first language. Supporting education is fundamental to building a strong community. The Vail Centre is partnering with the recognized Rassias Center at Dartmouth College and with Stanford University to help teachers:

- Learn the skills to close the achievement gap
- Become strong leaders
- Increase the overall quality of instruction
- Positively impact the entire system.
